

Recognition for CBP

Earlier this year CBP was named as the Australian Insurance Law Firm of the Year for 2008 in the ALB Mettle Australasian Law Awards. The firm has now received further accolades.

Commercial Dispute Resolution

In a recent edition of Australasian Legal Business (ALB) magazine, Antony Riordan, head of CBP's Commercial Dispute Resolution Group received major recognition, "Colin Biggers & Paisley won praise for its 'high-calibre advice and close attention to client care'. ALB continued, "leading lawyer Antony Riordan who heads the firm's commercial dispute resolution group, was singled out for his dispute resolution expertise, with clients noting that he was 'second to none in Sydney'".

Construction & Engineering

CBP was the first named leading firm in building construction law identified by ALB Magazine in their recent Building and Construction Law feature. Two of CBP's senior construction partners, Nick Crennan and Alex Ostermayer were mentioned for their "unrivalled experience in front-end and contractual matters".

Geoff Standen and Brad Kermond, also senior partners in the construction group have previously been cited in leading industry journals as being in Australia's top 20 construction lawyers.

This recognition for the firm is particularly gratifying as it comes from clients as well as professional peers.